Two Stills Seized

Federal Agents Make Arrest at Moss Beach

Two large stills on the peninsula were raided Tuesday by federal prohibition agents. A squad under William G. Walker, prohibition administrator, seized a camouflaged still of 300 gallons capacity at Lomita Park. Vats containing 9000 gallons of mash also were confiscated. The operators escaped.

The second seizure was on a ranch two miles from Moss Beach, where G. Dellosso was arrested. A 450-gallon still was found.

New Boys' Club Organized Here Under 'Y' Program

At the urgent request of a number of boys who were members of the Roosevelt Pioneer Club last year, a meeting was held at the Methodist Church Wednesday evening for the discussoin of the reorganization of this club under the program of the Young Men's Christian Association.

This club was not reorganized at the beginning of the school year because a majority of the members had passed the age of 15 years which is the limit in the Pioneer Clubs. During the past three years the Roosevelt Pioneers made a name for themselves not only through athletics but in service. For some little time the boys have been requesting that the club be set up but until recently a leader was not available. Mr. White, one of the teachers of McKinley School, has agreed to take over the leadership of his group.

At the meeting this week Roy A. Hohberger, the local Y. M. C. A. secretary, presented the opportunities and the responsibilities of the club.

It was decided that election of officers and further details of reorganization should be handled at the next meeting to be held on Tuesday evening of next week at 7:15 P. M.

Plans are to organize the older group into a Comrade Club in the near future if a leader can be found to handle this club group.

The Redwood City Promotion Association is giving a card party in the Central School auditorium Thursday evening, February 27. Playing wil start at 8:15.

San Mateo Is 45th County In School Wealth

$15,649 in Wealth For Every Pupil In Schools

(UP)—San Mateo county, with a total of $15,649 in wealth for every boy and girl attending her schools, rangs 45th among the 58 counties of California in true wealth per pupil.

Walter E. Morgan, chief of the bureau of research and statistics in the State Department of Education, made this computation in a report handed to Governor Young this week.

In estimating the amount of property represented by tach elementary pupil, Morgan took into consideration the ratio between the actual value and the value placed upon the property by county assessors. Thi differs with different counties.

The total number of pupils in average daily attendance is then used to figure out the true wealth per pupil.

Alpine county, California's "baby county" lead the entire state in wealth per pupil, with a total of $85,505 for each of the 13 children enrolled in that county's one schoo.

Placer county stood at the bottom of the list, with $10,766 per pupil.

Los Angeles county, which has the largest school enrollment of any county in California, stood eleven in the "true wealth" list, with an average of $27,828 per pupil. San Francisco ranked fourth with $37,290, and Alameda county thirtieth, with $20,687.

Read the Community page in this week's Times-Gazette. It's good!

We know that our neighboring towns think of us, we know that our traveling men visitors talk of us, we know that our city relatives who come here for a short stay go out and tell about us. The biggest question is, "What do they say?"

Towns are like people. They have their personalities. We have possibilities in our town of developing a town personality that will stand out from our surrounding and competing towns. This does not mean the blatant, booster spirit; it does not consist of bragging of our town on every occasion—it means merely looking on fellow residents and fellow business men not as competitors, but as colleagues, friends, and teammates in this community competition of ours. It means merely an occasional smile in place of a frown.

"Personality" is acclaimed by great business men, politicians, statesmen, and others as important in the building of their careers. Their friends point to their "personality" as bringing their success. Towns have personality just as individuals have. And in achieving success Redwood City must develop a personality just the same as great individuals have.

Here and there, all over the country, are towns and cities which have developed personalities. Towns and cities which have developed reputatations. Our town may not be big enough to develop a National reputation, but a smiling, cheerful, Municipal Personality will ease our nerves, improve our digestion, increase and sweeten our sleeping hours!

79th Birthday Celebrated By Woodside Man

John Fell, the grand old gentleman of Woodside, who has a host of friends, and has lived for years in the shadow of the mountains beneath the oaks and redwoods, celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday Wednesday whil paying respects to our martryed president, Abraham Lincoln.

Although Johnny, as he is familiarly known to his friends, is nearing the four score mark in life's journey, he is still active, with a clear mind capable of recalling events that have been forgotten by many ,and a visit to his neat little home is a treat never to be forgotten. He is a great lover of nature and an ardent and enthusiastic hunter and sportsman, and, if one finds him in a reminiscent mood, and loves tales of the woodland, an entertainment is offered the listener that will live long in memory.

Former Residents Visit Old Friends

After an absence of seventeen months from here, George Genochio and his wife, accompanied by their little son, Billie, motored down from Willows Glenn county to pay their respects to relatives and friends.

George has charge of one of the finest wild duck preserves in the State and besides being an expert wing shot ,understands the wild bird life of the webfoots perfectly. After their arduous duties during the open season they sought a vacation by coming south, but the reception given them by their friends and relatives here was anything but the vacational period they anticipated.

After several days spent with Mr and Mrs. J. C. Buchen at their beautiful home at San Leandro, they arrived here only to find matters arranged handsomely for their reception. Dinner parties at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Choate, Walter Genochio, Louis and J. A. Genochio, Henry Werder, William Williamson and an elaborate party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hess, Jr., together with a splendid dinner and party given at Alvarado last Sunday again as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Buchen, caused George and his wife to wonder whether they had really participated in a real vacation or not, and on Wednesday morning they left for San Francisco on their way home, amid many good wishes, both deciding that their little green home on the Yuba City road, where thousands of wild ducks and geese still linger, would in reality be where a vacation could well be spent in happiness and comfort.

Redwood City Post No. 105, American Legion, wil hold another of a series of dances in the War Memorial Hall next Saturday evening. Music will be furnished by a 4-piece orchestra. Refreshments will be served following the dancing.

Funeral services for Mrs. M. M. Storey, who passed away at her home in Palo Alto last Thursday, were held on Saturday afternoon from the parlors of Roller and Hapgood in Palo Alto and were attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The services were under the auspices of the Eastern Star and the Rev. John Stephens of the First Methodist Church, Palo Alto, and Rev. C. H. Stevens of the First Congregational Church, Redwood City, officiated. The interment was at Dixon, California.

Mrs. Story was a sister of Mrs. Herman Mohr of Mt. Eden, Alameda county, and the late L. P. Behrens of Redwood City, C. H. Behrens of Redding and G. F. Behrens of Sacramento.

The following nieces and nephews survive:

Mrs. Edna Eton and Miss Ella Behrens, Redding; Mr. Earl Behrens, San Francisco; Mr. Fred Behrens and Mrs. Lolia Wallis, Sacramento; Mr. L. A. Behrens, Redwood City, and Mrs. F. E. Allen, San Mateo.

Mrs. Storey was born in Shasta county and had been a resident of Palo Alto for 30 years.

Radcliffe Boomed For Controller

George Grant Radcliff, the widely known newspaper man and one of the owners of the Watsonville Pajaronian, has announced his candidacy for the office of state controller, a position held for many years by Ray L. Riley, who seeks the governorship.

Mr Radcliff in a long statement in the Pajaronian, makes his announcement pledging his best ability to the duties of the office, should he be chosen

George Radcliff was born in Grass Valley. In 1882 he accompanied his mother and sisters to Watsonville, where his brother, the late W. R. Radcliff, was publishing the weekly Pajaronian.

In the Pajaronian office, under his brother's tutelage, he learned the printing business and in 1888 he went to Los Angeles, where he worked as a compositor on the Los Angeles Express.

H. Z. Osborn, then proprietor of the Express, on a strong recommendation from the late U. S. Senator Stephen M. White and John T. Gaffey of San Pedro, gave him a job setting type on the Express. Los Angeles had a population of about 45,000 at that time.

He recollects, most minutely, whilst working on the Express, that one day he drove, with a crowd of the boys, down to the beach to see the surveyors drive the stakes for a new coast town. That town is now the populous Long Beach.

Mr. Radcliff was a member of the Legislature from Santa Cruz county in 1899; 1900 served as postmaster in Watsonville for one term, edited the Pajaronian, then a daily with signal success for several years. Governor Hiram W. Johnson, after being elected, appointed him superintendent of the capitol buildings and grounds, a new position that consolidated three old commissions.

In that capacity Mr. Radcliff also was director of the miniature supply department, and as such became the founder of the present state purchasing department.

In 1923 Governor Friend W. Richardson appointed him as director of the State Board of Control and chairman of finance. He held the office during the Richardson administration.

Since then Mr. Radcliff has divided his time between Watsonville and Sacramento, where he was in the commercial printing business.

Mr. Radcliff has been closely associated with every state controller for many years. He was a personal friend of Colonel John S. Chambers. He believes that the office is the most important administrative business position in the state, with the exception of the governorship.

New Hearing On Western Pacific Application Set

Date Postponed Until April at Request Of Opponents

The hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the amended application of the Western Pacific Railroad for permission to construct a line from San Francisco to Niles, via Redwood City with a bridge across the bay, has been postponed from March 13 to April 1. Opponents of the application asked for more time in which to assemble data. The leading opponent is the Southern Pacific.

The Western Pacific plans to build a line thirty miles long which will bring the road into San Francisco over its own rails and make that city the actual Pacific Coast terminus. Estimated cost of the work is $8,000,000.

Pleads Guilty; Applys for License Wed All In One Day

Kenneth Blackburn entered a plea of guilty to second degre burglary in the court of Superior Judge eGo. H. Buck yesterday, and a short time later asked for a life sentence. His application for a life term, however, was made in the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Kneese, not in Judge Buck's court.

Blackburn, Clarence Davis, Francis M. Laumie, Wilbert Hadley and Betty Brown, all arrested by Sheriff McGrath and Deputy Sheriff Neri on January 24th on a charge of burglary growing out of their illegal entry of a house at Salada Beach, all entered pleas of guilty before Judge Buck yesterday.

Immediately after the hearing in court and after all five had been returned to the jail pending Judge Buck's action on a plea for probation, Miss Alice M. Powers, approached District Attorney Swart and asked if she might marry Blackburn. District Attorney Swart had no objections, so Blackburn was taken from the jail under the custody of Deputy Sheriff Callaghan and to the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Knese, where he and Miss Powers made their application for a marriage license. The license will be issued in three days.

WOODSIDE

Mark McCann, who is greatly interested in Woodside subdivisions, has returned from a trip to Europe and promises an extensive building program for Woodside Heights. This tract lies to the south of the Woodside road opposite the Menlo Country Club and offers many sightly building locations. A number of handsome homes have already been built in that tract.

The Woodside School organized its baseball team on Wednesday and elected Jack Neuman as captain.

A Valentine party will be tendered the children of the school on Friday afternoon by the ladies of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Two card parties have been announced for next week. On Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock a party will be given for the benefit of the Woodside Girl Scouts and will be in charge of Mrs. Neuman and Mrs. Dudley. The tickets are 25c which includes refreshments.

The regular monthly card party of the Parent-Teacher Association will be given on Friday night, the 21st and will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. George Shine.

Dr. McMill held his dental clinic at the school on Thursday morning. The clinic will be held every two weeks hereafter.

Even without the balmy weather of the last two weeks, there is plentiful evidence of the arrival of Spring. In the mountains the manzanita is all a-bloom, along the foothills the yellow splotches of acacia stand out against the green background. The white petals of background. The white petals of the almond trees glisten in the sun like snow and in their leafy retreats the trillium are beginning to burst into bloom. All of which is very pleasant in its way, but unless more rain comes very soon we shall suffer greatly during the summer from our depleted water reserves.

George Shine is spending several days this week at the Pritt ranch on the other side of the ridge.

The Betty-Lou tea house, newly constructed at the entrance to Woodside Glens on the Canyada Road, received its equipment of furniture on Wednesday and it is expected to be ready for formal opening on Sunday.

Reinhard Co. Incorporates

Reinhard & Co. have incorporated and without outside capital are planning a further expansion of their already large stores.

The fine hand decorated china, Tiffen glassware, pottery, homeware, electrical appliances, such as percolators, waffle irons, toasters, etc., now in their store at 2025 Broadway will be moved into the space now occupied by Hare, Brewer and Clark on Hamilton street. An archway will be cut through from the jewelry store of Reinhard & Co., Incorporated, and the new homeware and gift shop can then be entered either through the jewelry store entrance at the corner of Broadway and Hamilton street or through the side entrance at No. 232 Hamilton street. This new large store will be in charge of Mrs. Reinhard.

The store at 2025 Broadway will be conducted by Mr. Reinhard and run as an up-to-date radio and music store, supplying Redwood City with a complete line of radios, pianos, phonographs, records, sheet music and musical instruments.

Only through the kind patronage of the people of Redwood City and vicinity has the expansion been made possible, and it is the heartfelt wish of their hosts of business friends and acquaintances that this greater addition to Redwood City's retail business section will meet with every success.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren during their stay of several days in this city were entertained quite extensively by many of their former friends.

The clubroom committee of the Redwood City Masonic lodge will hold a dance Saturday evening in the Masonic temple here. This is one of a series of dances being given by the Masons, and the same enjoyable music will be furnished.

Census Head For District At Work Here

L. A. Heiner Will Tally Industries Of San Mateo County

Dr. Willard C. Bailey, superintendent of the census for the 10th California district, was here yesterday making preparations for the next decennial census, which will be taken throughout the United States beginning on April 2. The 10th district of California comprises the counties of San Mateo, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, San Benito, Santa Cruz and Monterey.

Dr. Baily was busy yesterday checking over the government maps with Miss Eleanor Falvey, assistant county clerk, to determine the number of districts into which San Mateo county will have to be divided for the purpose of taking the population and agricultural and manufacturing census. It is expected that about 60 persons will be employed in this work for this county.

This will be the 15th census taken of the United States, a census being taken every ten years. The present census will be by far the most complete ever attempted. Each person will be presented with 32 questions to answer. Merchants will be given 15 additional questions and farmers will be asked to answer 241 questions. The great number of questions is caused by the fact that for the first time the government expects to make a thorough tabulation of manufacturing and distribution throughout the nation.

Lawrence A. Heiner will have charge of the taking of the census of manufacturing and distribution in the lower end of San Mateo county. This will be started as soon as the forms arrive from Washington.

The census department of the government is, Dr. Bailey stated yesterday, a purely service organization. No individual returns are available to anyone. The totals collected, however, will be published so that San Mateo county may have an accurate count of its people and of the businesses and industries. The same facts will be available for each incorporated city.

By accumulating this material, the government makes it possible for cities to know how to spend their energies to the greatest good. The merchant will know what lines to follow in order to increase his business and in general a careful study of the inventory will show what growth may be expected in all lines. Upon the accuracy of the figures secured depends the value of the report.

Dr. Bailey believed that the population census will be completed within two weks after the opening date. The census of manufacturing and industries may require 30 days, he said yesterday.

Lights of New York

By GRANT DIXON

Impressed

The colossal majesty of New York impresses itself even upon the very young. A small gentleman of pre-kindergarten age was brought to the big city from a New Jersey town for a visit to his aunt. Auntie lives near the roof of a skyscraper apartment building. The young visitor planted himself at a window sill, pressed his nose against the glass, and gazed dreamy-eyed at the panorama before him. "I bet," he said, solemnly, "there's millions."

Raspberry

Wherever there is a wedding or a theatrical premiere, a crowd is sure to gather. Usually the onlookers gaze with respectful interest at the wedding or theater guests, wondering who they are and admiring their clothing. But at a premiere the other night the crowd was unsympathetic toward one arrival. He was an elderly gentleman—old enough to know better—who arrived in a ratty raccoon coat, belted, and a very formal top hat. They laughed as he walked from a taxicab to the lobby entrance.

'Twould Be Fun

One of the most exciting yet harmless pastimes is the organization of heirs to the estate of some one who lived 200 years or so ago. Almost every city has its band of crusaders who claim the accrued billions of good old John Fitz, who once, according to specially manufactured legend, owned most of the surrounding territory in America's infant days. There are, for example, many organizations of "heirs" to the English estate of Sir Francis Drake. And here in New York, I am told, some genius has got up a scheme to trace and organize the descendants of the Indian gentlemen who sold Manhattan to Peter Minuit for the well-known $24 and a drink on the house. What a lot of interesting lawsuits could grow from this!

Modern Dumas

Alexandre Dumas is credited with having done something unique in the maintenance of his famous fiction factory, in which he kept a staff busy writing for him. But there are many such authors today. One, well known for his travel books and articles, maintains a luxurious country home in a New York suburb. Here he has a workroom 100 feet long, where five secretaries are constantly employed. His chief secretary is a woman who is ready at a moment's notice to board a ship and go to Europe to interview Prince Whoozit on the current unrest in Siluria. As soon as she has questioned the prince she hurries home, writes the article—and signs the name of the modern Dumas, who then sells it, on the strength of his name, for a high price.

Invented Pin

The present search of the Smithsonian institution for early sewing machines brings to light indirectly the story of the invention of the safety pin by Walter Hunt, who lived in New York in the early eighties. It was Hunt, and not Elias Howe, who made the first sewing machine. Hunt was always inventing things—he devised the breech-loading gun, for one thing—and had considerable business with one John Chapin, a patent lawyer. One day Hunt called on Chapin to tell the lawyer he had no money to pay a $15 bill. Hunt paced up and down the lawyer's office, and finally cried: "I have it! I'll pay you this afternoon." He hurried to his workshop, made the first safety pin out of brass wire, immediately sold the rights for $400 cash, and paid Chapin his $15 at 4 p. m.

Small Girl Undersea Explorer

Little "Captain" Sylvia Williamson, daughter of the underseas explorers, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williamson, celebrating her first birthday anniversary fittingly with a special birthday cake decorated with coral and tropical fish. The decorations were suggested by the fact that "Captain" Sylvia has spent nearly one-half of her life 100 feet underseas off the Bahamas, where at the age of six weeks she arrived with her parents on the Field Museum-Williamson underseas expedition to spend four months in a glass studio underseas.

Love at first sight may be something one is not entirely sure about until a long time afterward.

"But, darling, Mr. Puff is such a nice man!"

IT isn't the pipe that causes these embarrassing moments, Mr. Puff. It's the tobacco. At the recent gathering of V. C.'s in London the following story was told: A wounded man was being carried across No-Man's land on the back of a perspiring comrade. Rifle and machine gun fire was heavy. "'Ere," suddenly exclaimed the wounded man, "what abaht turnin' rahnd an' walkin' backwards for a spell? You're gettin' the V. Crime on Increase in Small Cities

Washington.—A census report just issued shows the ratio of young criminals is increasing, smaller cities have more crimes than larger ones, and the lack of home ties tends to promote law breakers.

Persons between fifteen and thirty-four years of age made up 73.6 per cent of the prison commitments in 1923, whereas citizens of these ages constituted only 49.7 per cent of the general population. In many cases unsatisfactory home conditions were indicated as causes.

Cities of from 25,000 to 100,000 show the highest commitment ratio, 28 6 per 100,000, but they are just slightly above places with from 2,500 to 10,000. According to the census report cities of 10,000 to 25,000 are the best behaved.

Crime was found far more prevalent in the city than in the country.

"Of the total number of prisoners for whom the location of crime was reported," it is pointed out, "77 8 per cent were imprisoned for crimes committed in urban places, and rural sections were the scene of only 22.2 per cent of the crimes. Urban places show a commitment ratio per hundred thousand of population of 25.1, as against the rural ratio of 7.6."

The census report added that the "commitment ratios, according to sex, show a greater disparity for females than for males between the urban and rural commitment ratios."

"For females," it said, "the commitment ratio was 3.7 for urban places, as against a rural ratio of 0.5."

Census bureau agents found that prisoners are migratory, moving from community to community. Education, it is stated, is a deterrent for crime. The commitment ratio is about three times as high for the illiterate as for the college group.

"These figures," declared the bureau report, "afford no support to the sensational statements frequently made in recent years, to the effect that education, and especially college education, tends to promote crime."

But, it is said, "it is quite probable that offenders having education are more successful in avoiding arrest and conviction for their crimes.

"At the same time it is to be noted that the prisoners comprise an abnormally high proportion in the younger age groups, and these in the general population have decidedly higher educational attainments than persons belonging to the older groups."

Kills Wife in Hospital Bed

Birmingham, Ala. — Twelve hours after his wife had been sent to a hospital suffering from a knife wound he inflicted, W. R. Keith broke into her room and shot her three times. She died an hour later. Keith fired a bullet into his arm after fatally wounding his wife.

"She had been trifling with me," Keith told police after his arrest.

He ordered out of the hospital room his wife's sister and two nurses. "Get out and get out quick," they said he shouted, and as they backed out the door he fired. One bullet went through the woman's body. Two lodged in her back.

Mrs. Edward Feenker, sister of the slain woman, told the following story to the police:

"As he came into the room, Keith pulled a flask from his pocket and took a drink. Mrs. Keith raised up in bed and asked for a drink and as she did her husband pulled out his pistol and told us to get out.

"We got out and heard him shoot her as she sat up in bed."

Mrs. Keith was taken to the hospital the day preceding by friends after a disturbance in the yard of the Keith home. They found her with her clothes torn from her back and a stab wound in her shoulder.

PAYING ONE'S DEBTS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

My father's youthful ambition, while living as he did in the north of England, was to come to America where, as he thought, there would be freedom and a better opportunity for getting on in the world. He was thirty-five years old before he had amassed enough to pay the passage of the family and have enough of a balance to establish himself in a new country.

Coming across the ocean in a sailing vessel, as was done eighty years ago, he came into contact with a young preacher, who, like himself, was seeking a greater opportunity in a new country. The minister had not been as frugal as father; he had saved little and on the way over he fell sick, and was without resources to buy himself and his family food. Father's heart was touched and when they landed he advanced the man the one hundred dollars which he had saved for an emergency. It seems a small sum, but it was a fortune to father, for it was practically all he had. They went in different directions from New York. Father never heard from him again. He was the sort of man of which we have so many—he did not take his debts seriously.

John D. Rockefeller, the richest man in the world today, perhaps, if not the richest who has ever lived, says that the thing which first caused him to get a financial start was his habit of always meeting his obligations. "Pay your debts" was the slogan which marked his road to prosperity and affluence.

I was sitting in the office of a banker friend of mine not long ago, when a man came in to ask for a loan. I knew something of his circumstances. He owned a good deal of property and so far as I knew it was not in any way encumbered. He was looked upon as a man in better than good financial standing. It was five hundred dollars he wanted, I think.

"I am sorry," the banker said, "but we are not in a position to let you have the money at this time."

The man went out, and shortly afterward a farmer came in and made the same request. He explained to my friend that he had little but his own word to offer as security. "We are very glad to let you have the money," the banker said. "I know about you; you pay your debts." He turned to me.

"You were surprised, possibly, that I did not let Black have the five hundred dollars for which he asked, knowing as you do, how much property he owns. It would always be possible to collect from him, but any one who lends him money generally has to force a collection. No one who knows him will lend him anything, for he pays his debts only when he has to do so. This last man is poor, but he is honest. He always manages some way or other to meet his obligations. We are always glad to do business with him."

Russian Trusts Seeking University Graduates

Moscow.—Competition among various governmental enterprises here for engineers and technical specialists of all types is so keen that the services of technical students are contracted for years before their graduation.

Trusts, sometimes single factories, frequently endow scholarships in universities on condition that the beneficiaries of their money promise in advance to give their services to that trust or factory.

The grain trust, for instance, has just announced that it is paying tuition and a certain stipend monthly as living expenses for 735 students of agronomy who upon graduation will be obliged to work on the huge farms organized by this trust.

Neal's Mother Has Right Idea

Within a few months there will be no more feverish, bilious, headachy, constipated, pale and puny children. That prophecy would surely come true if every mother could see for herself how quickly, easily, and harmlessly the bowels of babies and children are cleansed, regulated, given tone and strength by a product which has proved its merit and reliability to do what is claimed for it to millions of mothers in over fifty years of steadily increasing use.

As mothers find out from using it how children respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup by growing stronger, sturdier and more active daily they simply have to tell other mothers about it. That's one of the reasons for its overwhelming sales of over four million bottles a year.

A Western mother, Mrs. Neal M. Todd, 1701 West 27th St., Oklahoma City, Okla., says: "When my son, Neal, was three years old he began having constipation. I decided to give him California Fig Syrup and in a few days he was all right and looked fine again. This pleased me so much that I have used Fig Syrup ever since for all his colds or little upset spells. It always stops his trouble quick, strengthens him, makes him eat."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name and see that the carton bears the word "California." Then you'll get the genuine.

Among Those Present—

TOWNS are like people. Each one has a distinct personality, different from all the rest. People coming into a town feel this personality at once.

There are cheerful towns, grouchy towns; carefree towns, careworn towns; accommodating towns, surly towns; charitable towns, stingy towns; beautiful towns; slovenly towns; towns of all sorts and descriptions.

These town characteristics are known as MUNICIPAL PERSONALITY. And the personality of each town is made up of the collective personalities of the people that live in the town.

The peculiar part of it is that a town displays different personalities to different people.

A stranger coming into a town may be unfortunate enough to be greeted by the "town grouch" with a surly reception. This stranger then is impressed with a grouchy personality for the community.

Another stranger is greeted with a hearty smile and a handshake. He carries a lasting impression of a cheerful, charitable town.

And so it goes. Our town thus gets its reputation and character from each of us individually.

Science teaches us that it takes less energy to produce a smile than a frown. But when things go wrong we are tempted to doubt this teaching, and to believe that a smile is the most difficult thing in the world to achieve. But remember . . . .

SMILES make friends; SMILES bring people back; SMILES make business; SMILES mean good times; SMILES ARE WORTH DOLLARS!

Let's develop a smiling, cheerful Municipal Personality!

Well, well; if SMILES are worth dollars, we can all grow prosperous with ease, and can readily develop a smiling, cheerful Municipal Personality in

Why Lincoln Was Great

Calvin Coolidge while President of the United States, in an address, told why he thought Lincoln was a great man. "Lincoln," he said, "was the commonder-in-chief of the greatest armies the world had then seen. They were victorious. Yet we do not look on him as a conqueror.

"He directed the raising and spending of vast sums of money. Yet we do not think of him as a financier.

"The course which he followed cost many lives and desolated much territory. Yet we think of him, not as a destroyer, but as a restorer."

Mr. Coolidge then gives the reason why he thinks Lincoln was great and in doing so he expresses a thought that should be broadcast throughout the world today. He said:

"To me the greatness of Lincoln consisted very largely of a vision by which he saw more clearly than the men of his time the moral relationship of things. His great achievement lay in bringing the different elements of his country into a more truly moral relationship."

That undoubtedly was the Great Emancipator's contribution to his time, and his work needs to be carried on in the world today—not by a single great individual but by many, yes, by a multitude of people, who see and understand what is right in human relations and who have the courage to put that understanding into practical effect in everyday affairs.

If you want to get the real keynote of a community, find out what sort of a home it is in which the young folks gather most readily.

Would Prevent Hiring Of Illegal Entrants

A bill providing a penalty for those consciously employing aliens who have effected an illegal entrance into this country has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative Wright Patman of Texas. Such legislation will discourage aliens from seeking illegal entry, Mr. Patman believes, in addition to prompting those already here illegally to surrender, return home and thereby qualify for an opportunity to re-enter legally.

"Our government, through the Farm Board and the Agricultural Department, is telling the farmers to avoid over-production next year," he added, "yet at the same time, our Government permits the Mexicans and other immigrants to come into this country without restriction as to number, to engage in agricultural pursuits and to take the jobs of American laborers who must turn to the farm as a means to support themselves and their families.

"A high tariff is proposed and levied on foreign-made manufactured goods on the theory that our laborers should not be compelled to compete with the cheap labor in the factories abroad. The same principle and reasoning that exclude or tax foreign goods will support the theory that foreign laborers should not be allowed to enter our country in competition to American labor, and especially is this true when there is so much unemployment as there is now."

Smile

It costs nothing, but creates much. It inriches those who receive without impoverishing those who give. It happens in a flash and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None are so rich that they can get along without it, and none are so poor but are richer for its benefits.

Former President Calvin Coolidge is asked to write a five hundred word story of the United States for a mountain side. Probably the boys and girls in school wish that their histories were that short. They could the better remember it. It will require great judgment to select just the right things and then each must be stated very briefly. But then the former executive is noted for brevity. He is not likely to write a single word more than is necessary.

Hughes Is Praised In School Journal Article

Charles C. Hughes, who recently was re-elected city superintendent of schools of Sacramento for another four-year term, was praised in an editorial appearing in the Journal of Education, national school periodical issued in Boston.

"No one has a more heroic record of progress and achievement than has he," the Journal remarked. "He has established a school system as nearly faultless as any we have ever known. This applies to building program, to curriculum leadership, to the promotion of loyalty in the teaching force and in the creation and maintenance of community sentiment."

Like many other prominent men throughout the state Hughes began his career in the office of the Times-Gazette. As a young man attending Stanford he turned the press on publication days. It was hard work but Charlie had a goal and a desire to get ahead in the world and was, like his schoolmate, President Hoover, willing to strive and work for it. He succeeded for he is accounted one of the ablest educators in the state.

Thieves Enter Postoffice At Moss Beach on Coast

The postoffice at Moss Beach was broken into Tuesday night by thieves The office is in the store of R. Guy Smith, who is also postmaster. Both the postoffice and the store were ransacked, but little of value appeared to have been taken.

Entrance to the place was obtained by means of a rear door which was broken through. The store was found in confusion Wednesday morning when Smith went to open up. The thieves took some pictures from the wall and some of the electrical equipment carried in the store. The robbery is thought to have been the work of boys. Undersheriff Edward Ferrell and Deputy Quinlan investigated as did also Constable Fred Simmons of Halfmoon Bay.

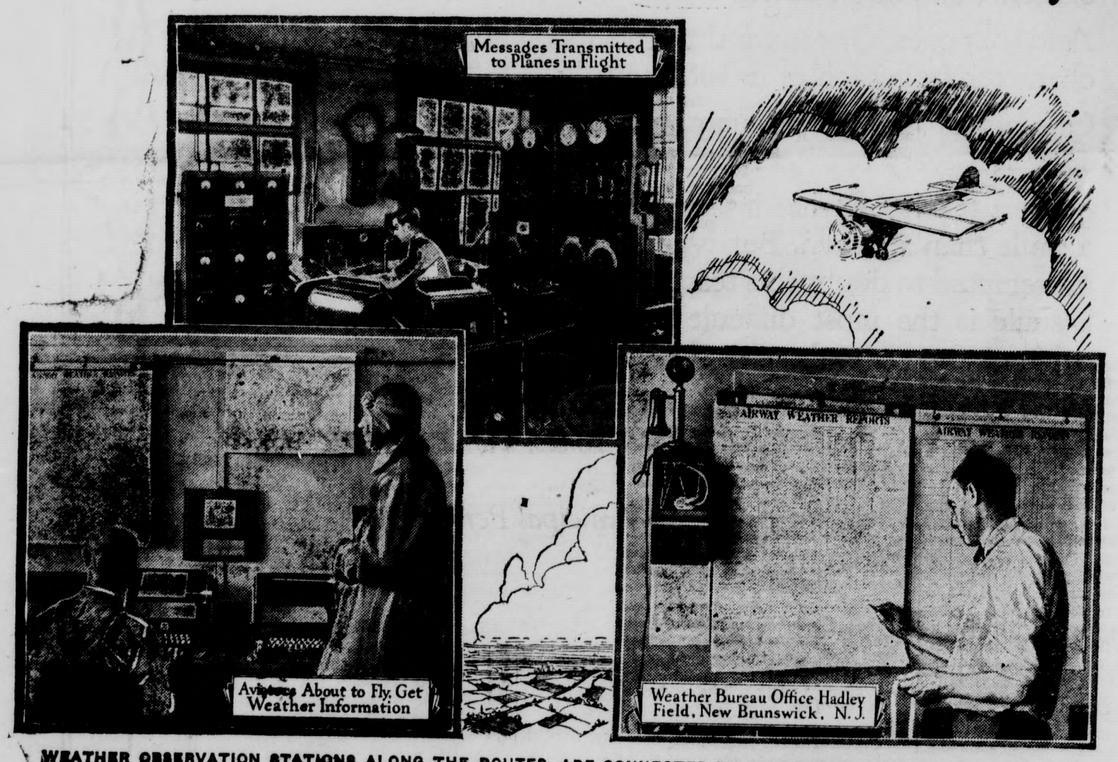
How Weather Condition Reports are Collected On Commercial Air Routes and Radioed to Flyers



Messages Transmitted to Planes in Flight
Aviators About to Fly, Get Weather Information
AIRWAY WEATHER REPORTS
Weather Bureau Office Hadley Field, New Brunswick, N. J.

WEATHER OBSERVATION STATIONS ALONG THE ROUTES ARE CONNECTED BY TELEPHONE TYPEWRITER CIRCUITS

By G. G. BREED

THE future of commercial flying will depend largely upon the aid furnished through the scientific development of a system of communication by which the aviator will be kept informed of weather conditions along the scheduled route of his flight.

Such systems have been established in this country and are now operating to make commercial flying along prescribed routes a practical commercial success. In all these networks of communication the telephone typewriter circuits are the nerves that connect the vital centers for collecting and distributing the information so essential to the flyers.

The communication system employed by the Department of Commerce Airways Division along the New York-Chicago and the San Francisco-San Diego Airway routes consists of a series of radio stations located at strategic points with an interconnecting Telephone Typewriter service between these radio stations and the intermediate fields and weather collecting centers along these routes. A similar system has been put in operation by the Transcontinental Air Transport along its air-rail route across the Continent. In each case the Telephone Typewriter service is furnished by the Bell system.

A typical communication system is in operation along the New York-Cleveland air-route. Near the hangars at Hadley Field, two Weather Bureau men send up balloons to determine the ceiling and wind conditions in the upper air; obtain, from an anemometer, the velocity and direction of the wind near the ground; note cloud conditions, field conditions,—anything that a flyer may want to know about the situation in that vicinity.

In their office is a telephone typewriter with a local circuit to the Department of Commerce's radio station at the field. Seating himself at this machine, one of the Weather Bureau men types out the information they have just collected. Similar information is sent to the radio station from a Weather Bureau office at the Newark Airport over the same circuit.

At a quarter before every hour the radio operator mans another telephone typewriter and begins typing the information sent in by the local meteorologists. All the way to Cleveland the information rolls out on the tape of machines located at various landing fields along the route. In less than a minute every station,—Northampton, Bellefonte, Mercer and many others,—knows all about weather and other conditions at the New York terminus of the airway.

As Hadley Field finishes its message, the observer at Northampton, the next field westward, picks up the thread and types out the meteorological data collected at his station. Within fifteen minutes every one of the thirteen along the airway has information, accurate and detailed, on matters affecting aviation at every other landing field. Whatever his destination, the pilot about to take off from any of these points has up-to-the-minute information of what is ahead of him.

It is still necessary to get the information to planes in flight. In the radio stations at Hadley, Bellefonte and Cleveland are long wave radio telephone transmitting sets. Every half hour these stations "go on the air," relaying to planes the information given on the telephone typewriter tape. The pilot in the vicinity of Hadley Field will hear something like this: This is Station WWU, Airways Communication Station located at New Brunswick, N. J., broadcasting weather. It is now ten seconds after eleven o'clock. Hadley weather; clear, light haze; ceiling, 8,000; visibility, seven; wind southeast, seven; temperature, fifty-one; barometer, thirty point fifty-six; field, soft."

The radio operator continues with similar information on conditions elsewhere along the airway. Each station uses a separate wave length. As their ranges overlap, a pilot is always able to pick up at least one of the stations. The system along the Cleveland-Chicago leg of the airway is practically identical.

The service on the Pacific Coast links a number of observing points along the principal airway between San Francisco and San Diego, while the telephone and the telegraph link these points, in turn, with other observing points in such a way that every point in the heavens along a wide belt between the two cities is under constant scrutiny from eyes whose "nerve-centers" are the reporting stations along the airway.

The layout for Transcontinental Air Transport is the most extensive communication system of this kind yet undertaken by an airway operating company. This company operates a train-plane service from coast to coast. The trip from New York is made over the Pennsylvania Railroad as far as Columbus, O. Here a plane takes off for Waynoka, Okla., where connection is made with a Santa Fe train. This train, in turn, connects with a plane at Clovis, N. M., that completes the trip to Los Angeles.

A telephone typewriter circuit connects Columbus and Waynoka and intermediate points, at each of which are weather observing stations. These points are also collecting stations for information obtained by meteorological stations off the main route, their reports being sent in over the telegraph lines of the railroads or by telephone. Thus the flier along this airway has full information on conditions over a wide strip on each side of his course. At various points along the route Department of Commerce and Transcontinental Air Transport radio telephone stations transmit the information to planes in flight. A similar system is in operation between Waynoka and Los Angeles.

The principal purpose of the telephone typewriter circuits in these networks is, of course, the exchange of meteorological data. As the transmission of this information consumes only a part of the time, the circuit is available for many other uses. It handles rapidly the innumerable administrative matters of the organizations concerned with airway maintenance. It gives the transport company the same close control of operations that it would have if they were all conducted at a single airport. It expedites handling of the mails and express by transmitting information in advance of arrival, as to quantity, weight and distribution of shipments.

The important part that Bell System Telephone Typewriter Service plays in air transport operations can scarcely be overestimated.

Attacker To Be Tried Here For Assault Charge

Charges of attacking and assaulting 19-year-old Helen Golden of San Francisco will be faced in the superior court here by Fred Pepe, 21, arrested in San Francisco. The trial will be held here as the alleged crime was committed at Daly City in this county.

Pepe was captured Monday night after a 36-hour search which started when his accomplice, Walter Zwick, 21, of 561 Clipper street, implicated him. Pepe confessed, police said.

Charges against Pepe and Zwick were dismissed by Police Judge Lazarus and the case turned over to San Mateo county authorities for prosecution.

Lieut. James Malloy, head of the crime detail, advocated the action, declaring the alleged attack occurred in San Mateo county.

Miss Golden is still in too serious a condition to testify.

She and her sister, Lillian, 16, who reside with their widowed mother at 158 27th street, were lured into "riding home" with the youths as they left a dance at 362 Capp street. The younger sister leaped from the car and escaped. Helen was overpowered, taken to a lonely quarry near Daly City and assaulted, she claims.

The two beat and kicked her into unconsciousness, then left her.

"I was afraid she was dead," Pepe said. The girl revived enough to stagger into a house at 345 Wellington street and call for help.

Patrolman John P. Meehan of the Mission station caught Pepe when Frank Pepe, an uncle, pointed out the youth as he walked past 16th and Diamond street.

Coastside Line In Merger With Other Systems

The Coastside Transportation Company is reported to have been amalgamated with the Pacific Transportation Securities, Inc., the corporation which has taken over the lines of the Pacific Rapid Transit and the Pacific Auto Stages. This represents a merger of practically all the stage lines operating on the peninsula. The coastside line operates three busses each way daily and five freight trucks. This line has been in operation for the past 15 years.

The Pacific Transportation corporation is said to be controlled by the S. P., although the stock is divided equally between the Greyhound Management Company, Chicago, the Pickwick Corporation and the S. P. Motor Transport, according to officials of the holding company.

San Francisco Holds Up Appointment of Superintend't

The board of supervisors of San Francisco on Monday postponed for one week formal appointment of Capt. Roy N. Francis as superintendent of the municipal airport at Millbrae.

His appointment was held in abeyance because minority supervisors wanted more time to investigate his record and the finance committee wished to discuss the suggestion of the airport group that his salary be fixed at $500 a month—an increase of $2500 a year.

Exchange Club Holds Program For Lincoln Day

Joint Meeting With Yomecan Club Held

In honor of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, a joint meeting of the Exchange Club and the Yomecan Club, a service club for young men, was held Tuesday evening at the Sequoia Hotel. A program in honor of Lincoln was observed.

The meeting was presided over jointly by Wilbur Doxsee, president of the Exchange Club and Edwin Brook, president of the Yomecans. The chief feature of the evening's program was a reading by Mrs. J. J. Garland, wife of the county milk inspector, of a portion of Winston Churchill's book, "The Crisis." The book deals with the Civil War and Mrs. Garland selected for her reading the portion relating to the pleading of a southern girl for the life of her cousin, who was arrested as a spy by the northern forces.

The chairman of the meeting was Joseph Baughn. Musical numbers were rendered by Adolph Keney of the Exchange Club, and by Don Baker and R. E. Manhire of the Yomecan Club. Wesley Haydock, past president of the Yomecans, told some interesting stories of Abraham Lincoln.

City Council In Spirited Session

The city council had a lively session Tuesday evening. All members were present. The clerk read a communication from H. A. Beeger, the mayor of Redwood City, inviting the council to meet with members of other councils in the territory between Menlo Park and Belmont to talk over questions of mutual interest to all. The meeting is to be held at the Emerald Lake Golf Club house on February 20. The council agreed to go in a body.

The Criminal Department of Investigation of Sacramento urged the council to send a daily report of the arrests and convictions of the city to the bureau. The chief of police was authorized to do this.

F. H. Campbell in a communication commended the efficiency and courtesy of Officer Bert Hering for permitting him to use the city telephone recently at a late hour when all offices were closed. The alarming illness of Campbell's father at Arizona made it imperative that the message be sent.

In a sensational communication to the council F. J. Furnivall wanted to know where all the booze and narcotics confiscated by the police department in several raids were located and if destroyed when and how. He claimed there was never any report made by the council. He also would like to know who had access to the store room containing the liquor. Chief of Police Furman said that all the liquor secured from time to time in raids was destroyed, according to law. The last lot of liquor confiscated a short time ago consisting of two small barrels of claret was in the back room of the council chamber, which room was accessible to the council men and the city attorney, each having a key to the room. The explanation appeared to satisfy the members and no further action was taken upon the communication.

Three applications were received for positions in the police department. They were ordered filed without the applicants' names being read.

The nuisance ordinance up for passage went over until the next meeting to give the city attorney an opportunity to investigate similar ordinances being adopted at Santa Barbara and other southern cities.

The election resolution calling for a municipal election of April 14, fixing the salary of election officers at $10, naming one polling place and agreeing on six officers to conduct the election was read and laid over until the next meeting at which time the election officers are to be named.

The Peninsula Paving Company petitioned the council for permission to lay a 20-foot pavement on Stanford boulevard according to plans and specifications of the city engineer. The petition was laid over until Thursday evening to permit the city attorney to look up the law on the matter. Some feeling was displayed in the debate that followed the reading of the petition.

The council took up the Gurnsey matter regarding his compliance with the city building ordinance. Work on the structure started in Stanford Park by Gurnsey was stopped by the council two weeks ago for violation of the ordinance in that he laid only six inches of concrete in the foundation when there should have been twelve inches put down. Mayor Elliss, J. J. Harcom, the building inspector, Chief of Police Furman visited the building and by exact measurements found that only six inches had been put down. Attorney Christ, representing the builder, contended that the law had been complied with. Angry words were exchanged between the lawyer and Harcom. It was brought out in debate that the builder had spread the dirt taken from the cellar on the lot surrounding the foundation after it had been laid. After a long debate it was agreed to give the builder until the next meeting to comply with the law and in the event of his failure to do so the permit would be revoked. Christ demanded a revocation then and there but the council refused to take further action.

Baby Boy Born to the Touseys

Last week a baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Tousey at Los Angeles. The Touseys formerly resided at Palo Alto. Their beautiful young daughter, Virgina Tousey, was a leader of the young set.

Express Company's Building To Be Used As A Garage

It is reported that the American Express Company's building at the depot is to be converted into a garage to house the trucks and cars of the concern that deliver express in this community from the headquarters at Palo Alto.

Mrs. Dorothy Bruce Fredericks went to the city on Wednesday to attend the funeral of Virgil Nahl, the famous artist who for many years did the art work on the San Francisco Examiner. His wife was the former pretty Miss Edna Caret, who spent her girlhood here with her uncle, the late Charles Patton, the wel-known lawyer who at one time campaigned for mayor of San Francisco against James Phelan. Mrs. Fredericks was Mrs. Nahl's girl chum at school.

Deserves Thanks of Community

William Feeley is a good Samaritan deserving the thanks of his neighbors. The long pathway in front of unimproved property on Oak Grove avenue, near his home was cleared of grass and mud and made suitable to walk on. Pedestrians now find comfort and pleasure in passing over the path. Feeley put in several hours of hard work in doing the job without pay. Little acts like these is what makes the world akin and a better place to live in.

Freiberg Home on Oak Grove Avenue Sold This Week

The Freiberg home on Oak Grove avenue was sold on Tuesday to W. L. Roper for $4300 by the daughter of Mrs. Freiberg. The daughter has applied for letters of administration upon the estate. She lives in Modesto and desired to dispose of the property.

Hallock Home In Stanford Park Sold to H. Bellome

Married In England

Mrs. Norma Preston Scott, formerly of Menlo Park and Colonel E. O. Bartlett of Florence, Italy, were married Monday in the parish church at Wakchett, Somersetshire, England. After her first marriage to Worthington Ames, the young couple resided at Atherton, having bought the Ira G. Hoitt school property. She was an unusualy beautiful woman in those days and a leader of the younger set. She was raised at Portola. Her father was the late E. F. Preston who owned the vast Schilling estate. There she grew to beautiful womanhood. Preston aspired to be governor of the state, but was defeated in the republican convention at Sacramento by Morris M. Estee. He was backed by the Spreckels interests.

Frank Brady To Take Unto Himself A Bride

Frank Brady, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brady of San Francisco and a grand son of the late James R. Doyle, for many years a prominent Menlo Park merchant, is to be married next summer to pretty Marie Haurot of Redwood City, where she is connected with the Sequoia Union High School. The romance began manys years ago at Redwood City. Young Brady entered the Fireman's Fund Insurance office at San Francisco shortly after leaving Menlo Park some years ago and rose step by step until he is now the company's representative at Portland, Oregon. The young couple will reside there after the marriage next summer when the high school closes.

Direct Busses To Oakland

But few people in town are aware of the fact that Menlo Park has a direct bus service to Oakland daily. The Peerless busses arrive here every day. The first comes at 8:43, departing at 10:25 for Oakland. The second bus arrives at 10:43, leaving at 1:35. The next comes at 2:43 in the afternoon, departing at 5:20. The journey is made in less than an hour and a half and the price for the round trip is $1.70. The buses go by way of Palo Alto and while here stop at the Shell Oil station on the highway at the corner of Santa Cruz avenue. The route traversed by the buses is over the Dumbarton bridge and through the scenic east bay country.

Skipper's License Suspended Because of Montara Crash

Under an order isued by Inspector Antone Christianson, skipper of the West Ira, was suspended for a period of 30 days. The suspension of the skipper's license followed the wreck of the ship on the reefs off Montara point on Feb. 2. Captain Christianson admitted that the exact position of the ship was not known to him at the time of the accident. He was able to take the vessel into San Francisco following the crash on the rocks, although it was badly rent.

The light sentence was owing to the previously good record in navigation shown by the skipper.

Warm guests--

when there is heat at a finger's touch

During a social evening, does some member of your family interrupt the party to fuss with the furnace?

With gas fuel burning in your furnace, a thermostat or a push-button regulates the temperature. No annoying trips to the basement. No bother about starting a fire when friends come — a finger's touch gives you instant heat. And any healthful temperature is maintained throughout your home.

With clean gas fuel, the curtains, wall-paper and furniture retain their fresh cleanliness. There is no smoke or soot about your property.

Even though you have no basement, there are fine types of gas-fired heating equipment for your home.

For full details about heating equipment that burns gas fuel, see a heating contractor or telephone or call at our office.

Keep Count on Salmon in Rivers of Alaska

On July 8, 1929, eight men of Naknek, Alaska, counted 257,546 salmon passing through the underwater gates placed by the United States bureau of fisheries on the Naknek river.

The law requires that at least 50 per cent of the salmon swimming to the spawning shallows of Alaskan rivers shall escape the nets and traps of the salmon canneries. Only by counting the fish taken by the canneries and by counting the fish that swim up a river, can bureau agents guarantee freedom to every other salmon.

So fences with gates are placed across the chief salmon rivers of Alaska. Canvas painted white is stretched on the river bottom at each gate, where bureau representatives with enumerating machines count the salmon as they shoot through.—National Geographic Society bulletin.

WALKED FAR IN SLEEP

What is thought to be a marathon sleep-walking record was set by Morris Hopkins, seventeen, of Cleburne, Texas. Hopkins arose in his sleep, donned a pair of overalls and wandered beyond Glen Roas, 20 miles distant, before awakening and finding his way home. Parents of the youth found his clothes in his room and organized a country-wide search for him. The overalls had not been missed.—Indianapolis News.

Fortune for Man Who Can Eliminate Static

American inventors turn out inventions at the rate of about 120 a day, according to Dr. W. A. Kinnan, acting commissioner of patents. "Americans," he says, "are more inventive than any other race. They have been granted 1,750,000 patents since 1791, whole only 3,000,000 patents have been granted by all the other nations of the world."

Notwithstanding this great number of new patents, there are plenty of fortunes still waiting the inventors of the right devices. For instance, adds Kinnan, an invention to eliminate static in radio is very much needed and a fortune awaits the man who is lucky enough to be the first to solve the problem.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Spain Becoming Alive to Value of Schools

No less than 6,800 new schools have been created by the Spanish dictatorship since 1924. Gen. Pimo de Rivera proposed to create 1,000 schools every year. At first the villages and towns most in need of schools showed little enthusiasm and municipalities were remiss in sending in petitions to meet their requirements. Persistent governmental propaganda, however, has had its effects, and for the last two years demands for schools have exceeded the quota provided for in the budget. Thus it would appear that an appetite for education is being roused—one of the healthiest signs the Spanish nation has shown in years. Also girls are waking up to the possibilities of self-earned independence. Prior to 1916 there were no female students at Madrid university, but in that year 60 girls took examinations in philosophy, sciences and pharmacy. Six years later the number was 363. Today more than 25,000 woman students are matriculated in Spanish universities. The first woman doctor appeared in Madrid in 1917. There are 92 today.

Triflers

"The gentleman who just interrupted me," said Senator Capper in a political address in Topeka, "is a trifler, I am afraid. He reminds me of the high school student.

"This student was one of a group which took delight in discomfiting a nervous young professor. One day the professor's subject was archaeological discoveries and he asked his class:

"'Can anybody give me an example of a commercial appliance that we know to have been used in ancient times?'

"'Yes, sir; the loose-leaf system used in the Garden of Eden,' the student replied."

Unchanging Britons

At the town of Lyme Regis, in England, the town crier still daily reads the proclamation beginning: "Whereas Charles Stuart, son of the late tyrant, with divers of the English and Scotch nation, have been defeated . . ." and goes on to warn the populace against harboring this Charles, who died in 1689. This bulldog tenacity of the British is what always enables them to win out in the end.—Detroit News.

Uses for Licorice

Licorice has not become a successful commercial crop in America. It grows wild over large areas in Spain, Italy, southern Russia, Asia Minor and southern Asia. This country, however, uses quantities of licorice. Ninety per cent of it finds its way into the tobacco industry, about 5 per cent into confectionery and about 5 per cent into medicine. Its principal medicinal use is to disguise the taste of acrid drugs.

Locusts Herded by Plane

When locusts, which recently have been taking heavy toll of crops in the Philippines, defied the planes sent to rout them, aviators had to herd the insects. Army planes were used to spray poisonous dust on the crop destroyers, and, at first, left them dead in windrows on the plantations. Then the locusts changed front, and when an airplane motor was heard they vacated areas in vast swarms, often flying into the paths of the planes and menacing the pilots. Aviators then changed their methods, and herded the swarms of insects, much as cowboys herd cattle, slowly driving them out of the crop districts. Pilots declare locust punching requires skill in avoiding the insect columns while keeping them moving.

An Awful Accent

Mrs. Sinclair Lewis paused in a discussion of Theodore Drieser's alleged plagiarism of her work to discuss the American accent.

"Well, anyhow," she said, "the American accent doesn't draw a hard and fast line between the sheep and the goats, the way the English accent does. In England, if your accent isn't the Oxford kind, you're a goat forever.

"The goat accent is awful, certainly. In the east end school one day the teacher was telling the little cockney children about fairies. To see if they had profited by his words he said:

"'Now, children, what's a gnome?

"The children answered in prompt chorus:

"'An 'ouse.'"

Envy Is Ignorance

Seeing Big League BASEBALL

By BILLY EVANS

Sportswriter, Big League Umpire and General Manager of the Cleveland Indians

The opening game of the 1928 season was a momentous occasion for me. It marked my exit as an American league umpire, my debut as general manager of the Cleveland Indians. During our stay at New Orleans, Manager Peckinpaugh had worked for condition. Realizing his club had many weaknesses, he tried to get his players in the best possible shape, in order to get away to a flying start if such a thing was possible.

Things certainly worked out for a time as both Manager Peckinpaugh and I had hoped. The club was in great shape, when we came north, particularly as to pitching. I feel that I am conservative in saying that our club was 15 per cent farther advanced, as to condition, than any other club in the majors. Uhle, Shaute, Hudlin and Miller formed a winning pitching combination that, for two months, caused the Indians to be the most talked about club in the league.

In our very first game on the road, after winning five out of the first seven at home, the club appeared to have suffered a catastrophe in the loss of second baseman Fonseca and center fielder Eddie Morgan. In the early part of the game they collided, while trying for a short fly to center field, which neither player was quite able to reach. It took the hard-hitting Fonseca out of the game for some time, and temporarily shelved Eddie Morgan, the most highly touted recruit of the spring training camps.

Lew Fonseca Who Was Voted the Most Valuable Player in the American League Last Year.

Thus one week after the season opened, Manager Peckinpaugh was forced to change the lineup that he had decided on as his very strongest combination. Carl Lind, a shortstop, was pressed into service at second, while Sam Langford, one of the utility outfielders, was sent to center field. What happened to be a catastrophe that afternoon in early April, really proved a fortunate happening, since neither Fonseca or Morgan suffered any ill after effects from the collision.

From the first game on the road, when he relieved Fonseca, until the finish of the season, Lind played sensational ball at second base. The experts agreed upon him as the best youngster of the year in the American league. Langford, for two months, played like a Speaker in the field and at bat. It was his ability to hit for extra bases, more than any one other thing aside from the pitching, that kept the Indians at runnersup to the Yankees during the first two months of the season.

In connection with Fonseca's injury, I always get a laugh out of the optimistic manner in which he viewed the happening. I have since come to know that an even temperament is why Fonseca is so valuable a player to a ball club. In bed for a week or ten days because of the collision with Morgan, Fonseca recovered enough to enable him to get out to the ball park and kill the afternoon watching the game. The very first time he saw Lind perform at second, Carl handled 12 chances cleanly, half of them difficult, figured in three double plays and had three hits, including a triple. After the game I chanced to meet Fonseca an my way to the office.

"I wish you would order a couple of gloves for a first baseman," said Fonseca, "for after watching Lind perform at second, I can see that my future as a big leaguer on this club must center around first base." Fonseca was in deadly earnest. Realizing it, I immediately ordered two new gloves. Just as soon as he was able to practice, he quit second base for first. Last year he was voted the most valuable player in the American league for his superlative play at first and his winning of the American league batting championship.

Unfortunately, Langford could keep up the Speaker pace for only a couple of months. Also, Lind after a great first year had a very bad second season, due largely to illness. However, it was Lind and Langford, good condition and fine pitching that caused the Indians to temporarily cross up all the experts. However, when the other clubs caught us as to condition, it was just too bad. The rest of the 1928 season was just a bust.

Limit Age of Caddies

Increase in the age limit of caddies is forecast in the report of a Western Golf association committee. The committee recommended that the age limit on caddies be raised from sixteen to eighteen years.

Formerly, a boy who caddied after he had passed sixteen years of age automatically became a professional. The committee's report said that the ruling prevented many boys from continuing in golf in the two years when they were most likely to become proficient.

Some Peculiar Failings of Many Baseball Men

Every time John McGraw signs a new coach the writers pull out that old paragraph that always reads the same:

"It is thought McGraw brought back Banny so that he can groom him to become his successor. The Little Napoleon wants a capable understudy who eventually can take the reins and let him retire."

Another bromide of the writing profession is to predict in the spring that the minor leaguer who is whaling the apple won't be hitting it as soon as the pitcher discovers his weakness.

And if he hits everything else they'll say: "Just wait until the pitchers start throwing curves on the outside corner."

And they might add: "Show us a few pitchers who can."

The percentage is against the busher making good. But now and then one does.

Modern World Too Keen on Material Matters?

The ancients said: "Knowledge is virtue"; the moderns say: "Knowledge is power"; so wealth comes, and peace departs. The body prospers and the soul decays. For what does it profit a man to gain the whole world, and lose his honor, his sense of beauty, his manners and his taste, his spiritual creativeness as artist, poet, statesman, philosopher and saint? The industrialists, the traders, the financiers never create, they only accumulate and exchange; they are busy transferring money from other men's pockets into their own. Their achievement lies in heaping things up, in making large sales, large fortunes, large buildings; never in transmuting quantity into quality by breathing into matter the soul of beauty and form.—Will Durant in the Thinker.

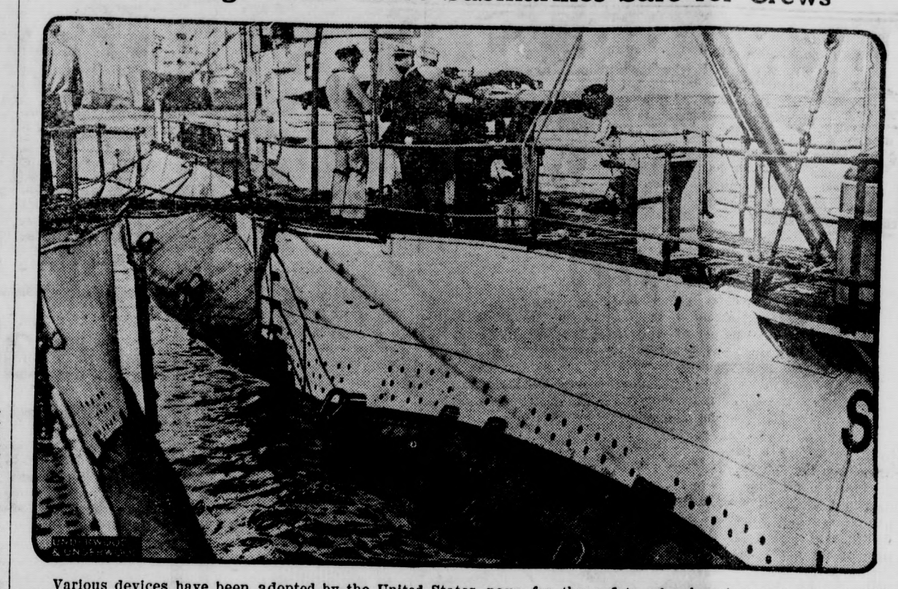
Making Uncle Sam's Submarines Safe for Crews



Various devices have been adopted by the United States navy for the safety of submarines and their crews. This picture of the new S-29 shows the "pad eyes" near the water's edge. These rings will permit cables to be attached in case of sinking and pontoons will then raise the sunken ship. Other safety equipment on the S-29 includes Momsen "lungs" (quickly attachable breathing devices for the crew), a safety escape lock on deck from which the crew can escape; a marker buoy which will serve as a marker for a rescue ship, and a telephone buoy which also will go to the surface and serve as a means of communication with the crew below.

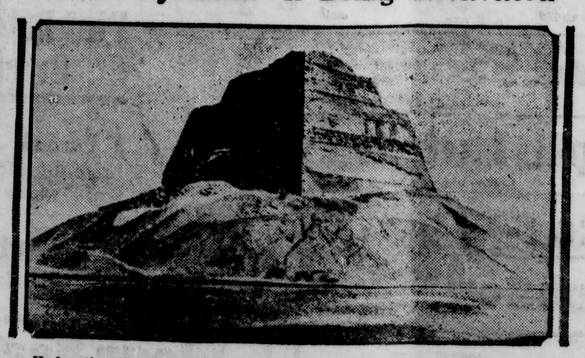
Do Your Duty

Do daily and hourly your duty; do it patiently and thoroughly. Do it as it presents itself; do it at the moment and let it be its own reward. Never mind whether it is known and acknowledged or not, but do not fail to do it. —Aughey.

Gathering Books for the Sailors

The American Merchant Marine Library association has been waging a campaign to obtain 10,000 books for the use of the men enlisted in that service. Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock was in charge of the drive. This picture, made at headquarters in Washington, shows Mrs. Amos Fries donating books to Mrs. Fahnestock (seated at desk). At the left is Miss Dorothy Sallers, secretary.

"False Pyramid" Is Being Excavated



Under the direction of Alan Rowe, an archeological expedition from the University of Pennsylvania museum recently began its first season of work at Meydum, Egypt, where the expedition is concentrating on the excavation of a pyramid which the Arabs call El-Haram el-Kaddab, or the "false pyramid." The photograph shows this pyramid, which rises to a height of approximately 215 feet and is believed to have been constructed during the Fourth dynasty in Egypt, dating from about 2930 B. C. onwards. Meydum, the site of the pyramid, is about fifty miles south of Cairo.

War, famine, pestilence and death are destroying the wild game of California, according to H. A. The Elk Grove Union High School was built seven years ago for a maximum of 250 pupils and, at the time it was built, it was estimated this would be reached in fifteen years. The attendance this year is 267, or seventeen more pupils than it was estimated to have attend in fifteen years. The English, Spanish and typing classes are overcrowded, and it is necessary to employ extra teachers for each of these. There is said to be one-third enough equipment in the typewriting department for the students taking this course. This necessitates three classes. It is now estimated that in eight more years, if the school continues to grow, there will be 450 pupils in attendance.

Stevenot, director of the state department of natural resources, reported. Stevenot said that 241 persons were arrested in connection with the conflagrations. These figures are smaller than the acreage and money losses of 1928 for during that period 1,266,372 acres were burned at an estimated loss of $2,360,504. Brush lands burned in 1929 totaled 412,92430 acres, and grass lands 370,031.10 acres. The heaviest monetary loss was checked against improvements to the total of $733,761 and range feed at $360,901. Twelve Years Mayor and Going Strong!

Hon. E. N. Kirby, for twelve years Mayor of Abilene, Texas, who has discovered secret of success.

WHEN a man who has been mayor of a big city for twelve years finds out how to live, his words are worth listening to. Ex-Mayor E. N. Kirby of Abilene, Texas, discovered the simple way to health about ten years ago (he is now 64.)

"I am now a new man, and as active as a boy," says Mr. Kirby. "I feel fine all the time and rarely have an ache or a pain, although for twenty-five years I suffered with rheumatism, and sometimes was unable to stand or walk. I would not give up my simple health discovery—no, not for five thousand dollars in gold!" That discovery was Nujol!

That's the wonderful thing about Nujol. Although it is not a medicine and contains absolutely no drugs, its harmless internal lubrication seems to make people feel better and look on the brighter side of life, whether they are old or young.

Of course you can understand why this is so: we all of us have natural poisons in our bodies that make us feel headachy, sick and low in our minds. Nujol, which is as tasteless and colorless as pure water, helps to absorb these and carry them away, easily, regularly as clock work.

Instead of drugging and irritating your body with pills, cathartics, laxatives, and other habit-forming drugs, give your body the internal lubrication which it needs, just as much as any other machine. After a few days you will be surprised at the difference in the way you feel. You can get Nujol in a sealed package in any drug store. Nujol may change your whole outlook on life. Get a bottle today and give yourself a chance to be well!

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. A tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches; to check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Bayer Aspirin was harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago. It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Bayer Aspirin for immediate relief.

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

Book Circulation Increased During Month at Library

The book circulation at the local public library increases at a rapid rate. During January, the first month of the new year, the library again attained its highest circulation on record, according to the monthly report submitted to the board of trustees by Miss Wilhelmina Harper, organizer. There were 5,615 books circulated which is 3,028 more than for the same month a year ago. This number is also greater by 749 than the December circulation which was the highest month of last year.

It is interesting to note that since the new registration system was installed at the library last July, there has been a total of 1,892 persons who have registered for membership. This includes renewals of old members as well as those joining the library for the first time. With the month's figure of circulation there is an average of three books per person having been read during January. This is a comparatively high figure.

Notwithstanding the present crowded condition of the library, there were 1,061 persons who used the reading room during the month for study and for magazine and newspaper reading. At times there has been insufficient seating capacity.

There were between two and three hundred new books added during January for both the adult and juvenile patrons; and there were 95 new members who joined the library.

The following are some of the new fiction titles which have been added:

Freeman—Silent Witness.
Erskine—Sincerity.
French—Great Detective Stories of the World.

Wallace—Dark Eyes Of London.
Williams—Hunky.

To keep abreast with the renewed interest in the non-fiction books of the day, the following titles have just been added which cover a variety of subjects.

"Devil-May-Care" Oustanding Film Beautiful Music and Settings Make

"Devil-May-Care," Ramon Novarro's first all-talking musical romance with a score by Herbert Stothart, lyrics by Clifford Grey and an elaborate technicolor sequence, will open next Tuesday at the Sequoia Theatre for 3 days.

The picture, adapted to the screen by Richard Schayer form the French drama, "La Bataille des Dames," is laid in the historic period of Napoleon's exile, and concerns the adventures of one Armand, played by Mr. Novarro, who, as a lieutenant of the deposed emperor, has an exciting time keeping out of the hands of Royalists, and at the same time winning one of the most beautiful feminine members of the group.

Advance reports indicate that those who have been speculating as to the recording of Novarro's speaking voice, ned have no fears since tests have shown it to be as well suited to the megaphone as his singing voice, which was first introduced to the public in "The Pagan."

The songs in "Devil-May-Care" are said to be unusually beautiful having a semi-classical air but a catchy swing. It is predicted that "Charming," the principal song, will be one of the most popular numbers of the year. Two other romantic songs, "If He Cared" and "The Shepherd's Serenade," are reported to outdo anything sung in current musical comedies. "Pompadour" and "Bon Jour, Louie" are rollicking comedy ballads, and "March of the Old Guard" is a military song sung by Novarro with a large chorus.

Director Sidney Franklin chose Novarro's supporting cast with an eye on the musical phase of the production. Dorothy Jordan, formerly of "Garrick Gaities," Twinkle, Twinkle," and other Broadway musical comedies, has the leading feminine role, this being her first feature venture into films. Marion Harris, well- known "blues" singer, has the prominent role of Countess Louise. Others in the cast include John Miljan, William Humphrey, George Davis and Clifford Bruce.

Advance information from the Merto-Goldwyn-Mayer studio at Culver City has it that "Devil-May-Care" proves itself distinctive not only in its musical score but in beautiful photography.
